President's Message

As Board Chair of Volunteer Burnaby, I continue to be thankful that the enthusiasm and vision with which our Society began in 1979 has not only been maintained but continues to flourish. Our strong organizational structure, the stability of our leadership and the commitment of our talented staff has strengthened our collective dedication to our purpose.

Although our mission has remained constant over the years, the programs and services we provide have evolved as the needs of our community have changed. We have learned much about what needs to be done and how to do it.

We appreciate that the United Way, Community Living BC, the City of Burnaby, and the Provincial Gaming Branch has provided the foundation for long-term sustainability but we continually face the challenge of finding ways to raise additional funds in an unpredictable economy. We gratefully acknowledge the local community partners such as Chevron, the Burnaby Now and Brentwood Town Centre who offer small project funding or in-kind contributions that allow us to expand our boundaries and consider all that is possible.

The establishment and continual growth of our volunteer sector has fostered important, exciting and relevant collaborations with community partners who willingly share their time, resources and guidance. Together we make great things happen in our community.

We are proud of the work we do and are pleased to share it with you. It is our hope that this report will provide accurate, timely and useful information.

Stephen Sjoberg, President

Promoting volunteerism is one of the core activities of a volunteer centre. In 2014 we employed a number of creative strategies. We displayed a cross street banner on the pedestrian overpasses over Kingsway and Canada Way to promote our web presence and our database of volunteer opportunities. We published a bi-monthly volunteer page in partnership with the Burnaby Now Newspaper. In this particular media initiative, we highlighted the work of the non-for-profit sector in Burnaby and celebrated national and international events such as National Volunteer Week. To promote our local community activities, we highlighted our Burnaby Festival of Volunteers and other volunteer driven special events. To support the spirit of volunteerism, we actively promoted International Day of Volunteers and International Day of Mangers of Volunteers. We were heavily involved in social media and face-to-face community development. From a philosophical perspective, throughout 2014 we helped ensure public awareness of volunteerism as a right of people of all backgrounds and levels of ability.

Volunteer Burnaby is a recognized Leader on issues related to volunteerism and volunteering. Our role is to provide people and organizations with volunteer information and educational opportunities. The capacity of an organization to achieve its goals is related to its tenacity and willingness to learn. To support this goal, Volunteer Burnaby has invested resources to create a comprehensive online learning program for administrators of volunteer resources. In the coming year, we intend to expand in this area to develop an introductory course as well as an online self-directed version for individuals interested in volunteering.

Volunteer Burnaby continues to support local social planning and community development endeavours. We regularly participate with the Burnaby Interagency Council, the Burnaby Heights Merchants Association and the Edmonds Festival Committee in East Burnaby.

Building Community

through volunteering means that we endeavour to bring people together to create altruism and good will. Every community connection we make, every volunteer match, every organization we assist, contributes to our goal of driving positive change in Burnaby. By embracing volunteerism we feel those involved are actively transforming Burnaby, and by extension, are helping to improve the quality of life for all citizens.

One of our best mechanisms to Connect People with opportunities continues to be our database of volunteer opportunities. Our moto is "Community Involvement Starts Here". Throughout 2014 we received thousands of monthly visits to our website and hundreds of phone calls from people seeking ways to participate in their community. By connecting people with meaningful opportunities we make Burnaby a better place to live.

What you can do We encourage you to volunteer your time to the cause or organization closest to your heart. Organize team volunteer activities in your work place or school, connect your business with a not for profit organization, sponsor a Volunteer Burnaby program or event or make a tax deductible donation to Volunteer Burnaby. If you wish, you are also welcome to become a member of Volunteer Burnaby by visiting www.volunteerburnaby.ca.

Remember, you can make a difference in your community. At Volunteer Burnaby, community involvement starts here!

Our Special Needs Access Program continues to offers assistance for people with intellectual disabilities as they explore volunteering as a way to enrich their life. More than 240 individuals have been assisted through this program over the past twenty years.
